Inspiring

No book can be more inspiring than the Glorious Quran. As a Muslim, it is the duty of each one of us to invite people to the path of Allah and our Prophet Muhammad SAW. “Let there arise out of you a band of people inviting to all that is good, enjoining what is right, and forbidding what is wrong. They are the ones to attain felicity.”

Al-Imran, 104:

At a time when sections of the world are either indifferent or hostile to Islamic ideology, it is important to remember the responsibilities we have been bestowed with by the Book. And do our bit in spreading the word of Allah SWT.

We are going through a difficult time, and in today's world a tussle of two ideologies is going on and we are the third ideology amongst them. We have to strive with all our strength which Allah SWT has given us. Journalism, poetry, novel writing and whichever field suits you, you have to train yourself. And those people who possess better knowledge and skills they must step ahead in different departments of knowledge and expertise.

Later, their limited exposure resulted in calls for a ban on radio and television, followed more recently by calls for ban on Internet and even mobile phones. Yet, in today's age when we have seen the crucial role played by the media, including social media, in the coming to power of Right Wing leader as Prime Minister, we can no longer turn a Nelson's eye to it. If anything, social media has become a tool in the hands of the masses.

Unfortunately, at the same time, there is great ignorance about Islam in the media. Even those journalists, authors and artists who are not opposed to Islamic ideology often end up supporting the West in the absence of awareness about the faith. Half truths are often presented as complete knowledge.

At such a time, it is imperative that Muslims come forward to project the right picture of Islam, and indeed offer an alternative to the media and the larger society.

When the world is struggling with issues of racism and casteism, it is important to recall the Last Sermon of Prophet Muhammad SAW where he clearly outlined the equality of humankind, emphasizing that no Arab has superiority over non-Arab, no White man has superiority over a Black man. It is equally important to tell our young men and women as also children that Islam offers a complete way of life, a lifestyle which is distinct from that of the West, sought to be emulated by rest of the world. This ignorance about Islam has to be dispelled through newspapers, radio and television, not to forget Internet with its convenient tools of Twitter and Facebook. Rahbar TV is the first step in the journey towards greater awareness about Islam in our media.

Over a period of time, we are planning to provide appropriate content to targeted age groups in different formats like films, drama, animation, interviews, Islamic songs and e-books, etc. The information shall be authentic with appropriate ready references.

The media is a revolution in progress. For too long have we denied the power of the media. There was a time when our leaders sought to put a ban on newspapers.

Especially I would urge the young generation to emphasize on ending the isolation and move ahead in arts & culture.

I expect that my appeal will not be heard by deaf ears, and time to time our young generation should pay attention in the field of Arts and culture.
